Original garden notes

I planted three shrubs beside the old shed last April. The smallest one survived because my neighbor watered it whenever I was away, and the bare patch has finally turned green.